

Swindon Racing Engines Ltd

AboutYou

Our customer base comprises of multinational automotive manufactures and motorsport teams.

The one thing they all have in common is a requirement to have better engine performance, reliability and service.

For some organisations we work in the background and feed the race team with expertise, new ideas and breakthrough developments, which helps them win races.

Common problems brought to us are lack of a reliable engine, poor performance, and slow response and turn around time, or just a lack of in-house experience or resource.

Our business is built around making our clients successful. Our 35-year growth is fuelled by an ethic and integrity, which our clients tell us, is a refreshing change and one they welcome as part of a long term working relationship.

Some people come to us with defined projects or clear objectives. Others are just intrigued about what we do and how we could help them. The guarantee for all is that a first level discussion and brainstorm will cost nothing and may well just be the breakthrough you've been looking for.

What's to consider? You simply need to list the engine challenges you think you're likely to face and give us a crack at helping you solve them.

Why not give us a call to chat your issues through or to arrange a no obligation meeting and visit our facility?
